Where a team of national leaders in chest tumor and lung cancer research work together to offer patients the highest quality diagnosis and treatment. You can see these specialists in one place at one time. By working together and pooling their expertise, Chest Tumor Center doctors are able to make the best decisions and give you the most comprehensive advice and information. Many patients come to the Clinic for a second opinion.

Services include: -Multi-specialty consultation in one place at one time.

-Rapid diagnosis and evaluation. State-of-the-art treatment options, including surgery, chemotherapy and radiation therapy.

-Follow-up care after initial treatment.

-Opportunity to enroll in clinical trials of new and promising treatments.

-Application of other advanced technologies that are only available at major academic medical centers.

-Patient-Family Resource Library and nurse coordinator -- patients and families learn about tumors and their treatment.

-The skills of rehabilitation medicine specialists, physical and occupational therapists and home health caregivers.
