The Leukemia and Lymphoma Society (LLS) offers several Patient Education Programs, including Living with Myeloma; Getting the Best of Cancer Care at Age 55 or Older; The Road to Discovery: Emerging Therapies in Blood Cancers; Back to School for Childhood Cancer Survivors; and more. These are offered free to help bring treatment options into clearer focus and to strengthen decision-making and coping skills.

Teleconferences and Webcasts are also offered. These free events can be accessed at www.LLS.org. Master's level social workers and health educators provide accurate, up-to-date disease and treatment information. Call toll-free 800-955-4572 or email infocenter@lls.org. Callers may request the services of a language interpreter.
