All parents of school-age children and youth who receive special education services in Virginia's schools are encouraged to complete a Parent Involvement Survey. The survey can be found on the website. The website offers information about specific disabilities, grants and funding, rights of students with disabilities and more.

Many school divisions in Virginia operate Parent Resource Centers for parents and guardians of children receiving special education services. These centers offer training, information and assistance, free of charge. Because they are operated by school divisions, Virginia Parent Resource Centers vary in the types of services they offer. Typically, they provide:

- Direct assistance to parents and guardians: listening, problem-solving, providing resources; and
- Information sessions for parents, school staff and community promoting parent and professional partnerships.
