The American Cancer Society offers programs and services to help you during and after cancer treatment. Some of the resources available are 24/7 Cancer Helpline, lodging during treatment, rides to treatment, hair loss and mastectomy accessories, and support groups to connect cancer survivors. The 24/7 Helpline provides support for people dealing with cancer and provides a connection with trained cancer information specialists who will answer questions about a cancer diagnosis, and provide guidance and a compassionate ear. The Helpline is 1-800-227-2345

We can also help you find other free or low-cost resources available. A video chat is available online.
