The MS International Federation is a unique global network of Multiple Sclerosis (MS) organizations, people affected by MS, volunteers, and staff from around the world. Their movement is made up of 48 MS organizations with links to many others, all to gain a world without MS.

They bring together the work of these MS organizations to help people affected by MS in countries where there is little support for people with MS. They campaign for increased awareness, provide information to the members, and support international research into better treatments and ways to manage the disease.
