If you have been diagnosed with one or more medical conditions that have resulted in the loss of physical, visual, cognitive or medical abilities or if you have been told to stop driving, you can consider investing in an evaluation and learn more about the newest adaptive equipment and techniques, and how these might apply to your specific condition.

The fleet currently consists of four vehicles with a variety of adaptive equipment options for drivers with physical limitations. All of the vehicles that are used for behind-the-wheel assessment and training are equipped with a passenger side brake pedal which allows the evaluators/trainers to stop the vehicle when necessary to keep clients safe.
